MID YORKSHIRE TEACHING NHS TRUST

CONSULTANT IN RADIOLOGY (Special Interest in Neuroradiology)

The opportunity has arisen for a dynamic and motivated doctor to join our Radiology department to complement the existing team of 5 neuroradiologists and 41 consultant radiologists in the wider department as we work to deliver the highest quality, sustainable service for our patients. The department offers a supportive and encouraging environment in which to develop as a professional.

Every one of our 8000 staff at Mid Yorkshire Teaching NHS Trust plays a vital role in providing quality care to thousands of people living across Wakefield and North Kirklees each year.

We're proud that our workforce - our greatest asset - strives for excellence every day in providing care and support to those who use our services. Mid-Yorkshire celebrates excellence and innovation. We have modern, state-of-the-art facilities and provide first class learning and development opportunities. Mid-Yorks is transforming, grounded in our values to care and improve, respecting our patients, our community and our staff, to deliver the highest standards of care.

If you are a dynamic, innovative and forward-thinking clinician with a passion for your profession and an enthusiasm to be part of a Trust striving to be the best, get in touch to see what a career at Mid-Yorkshire could be like for you.

Applicants should possess, or be within 6 months of receiving, a CCT at the time of the advisory appointments committee.

The appointment will be on the basis of the new consultant contract laid down by the Hospital Medical and Dental Staff Terms and Conditions of Service and will be remunerated as appropriate on the salary scale £109,725 - £145,478 per annum.

For further information please contact in the first instance Dr Stuart Kerr, Head of Clinical Service for Radiology, via Mrs Wendy McDonald on (01924) 541614.

Shortlisted candidates are encouraged to visit the department.
